A CUT ABOVE THE REST

MANCHESTER COLLEGE

NORTH MANCHESTER, IN 46962

VOLUME 93

Peace studies professor Ken Brown catches up on current events.

SOL flight attendant Todd Boldin exclaims, "Here's your coffee. Here's your tea. Here's your paper bag — Splat!" in a skit for freshman orientation.

Noelle Dulabaum unpacks the top of her car to get ready for another exciting year at Manchester.

A few of Ikenberry's guys assemble at the mall for a game of touch football.

A Cut ABOVE The Rest

"A Cut ABOVE The Rest." The phrase sounds like a great theme idea, but what does it honestly mean? How can we apply it to Manchester college, or to the students here, or to the yearbook itself? Read on . . .

The dictionary defines A cut above the rest as "a degree better than all others." But does this have anything to do with Manchester College? Yes.

Spirit shines in our Spartan mascot during homecoming.

"I enjoy being here," says Barbara Groschaus during the homecoming picnic lunch.

A Cut ABOVE The Rest

For the past 100 years Manchester College has been the home for the eager and inquiring minds of students, a starting line in many lives. For others, Manchester represented a place to grow and learn — to find one's self. Still other students merely marked time until they were ready to experience the "real world." In short, Manchester has touched many people in countless ways.

Barbara Ehrhardt pauses in the Lower Union to read not one, but two, Oak Leaves newspapers.

Roommates Ina Chandler and Vanessa Truss cuddle for a snapshot.

Karen Shively, Cindy Lengel, Dennis Ward, Brian Proffitt, Barb Glassford, and Jim Bowyer perform a climactic scene from The Foreigner.

"No, I didn't just puke in the trash can, I'm just lying here!" explains Mark Anderson.

Parents' weekend marked the opening of the Oaks in the Oakwood Cellar.

Kelli Yaussy and Matt Doudt "chum it up" after A Cappella choir.

Freshman Leon Groomfield makes use of the athletic training facilities in the PERC.

A Cut ABOVE The Rest

It's not just the strong academic program or the qualified faculty that makes Manchester, "a degree better than all the others." It's the lasting friendships, the rigorous athletic events, the student involvement, the student-teacher ratio, the beautiful campus . . . the people.

These things make Manchester College into what it is today. An institution of faith, learning, and service — A Cut Above The Rest.

As part of the Artist/Lecture series, big name Dizzy Gillespie performs for a size-ly audience on September 26.

Nat Bryan and Sue Gazdick stand arm-in-arm having just been named 1987-88's Homecoming King and Queen.

No, it's not Sisters' Weekend! It's Parents' Weekend. Trisha Wilcoxson hugs mother Sharon.

Barb Glassford as "Ellie" and Jim Bowyer as "Charlie" play with their "headglasses" in a scene from The Foreigner.

Doug Keller and Stuart Snider compete for top score in a game of Space Invaders while Freshmen Steve Snider, David Timmons, and Scott Lewis look on in awe.

Julie Maurer is "saved by the bell."

Always a ham, senior football player Steve Kile is, of course, the only one to notice the camera facing the Spartan bench.

"What, there's a test tomorrow?" asks Sherri Uhrick.

Open House

Food Friends Fantastic

The annual Residence Hall Open House saw hall floors living in a police state and being pretty in pink. Some of the more interesting floor themes ranged from Woodstock to the Hard Rock Cafe, although there were many other diverse themes on campus.

First floor in East Hall was literally a jungle while third floor had a birthday party. First floor in Ikenberry was the "spittin' image" of a New York City Street, while Schwalm first was the sight of many vacation spots. The entire theme for Oakwood was "Women at Work", as first floor East was the deck of a cruise ship and first floor west was a floor full of unusual occupations.

Garver Hall boasted some of the more peculiar themes like "St. Nowhere," "Singin' in the Rain," night clubs, slumber party, and of course the ever popular mens ground floor theme, "Pretty in Pink".

Overall, all of the open houses were a big success.

The Animal Kingdom, second floor mens Garver, was into the openhouse nightclub theme.

Freshmen Lisa Miller and Carrie Smith keep an eye out for Dinosaurs on East Hall's stone age jungle.

There was just "no handling the girls" on first floor Oakwood's pool party.

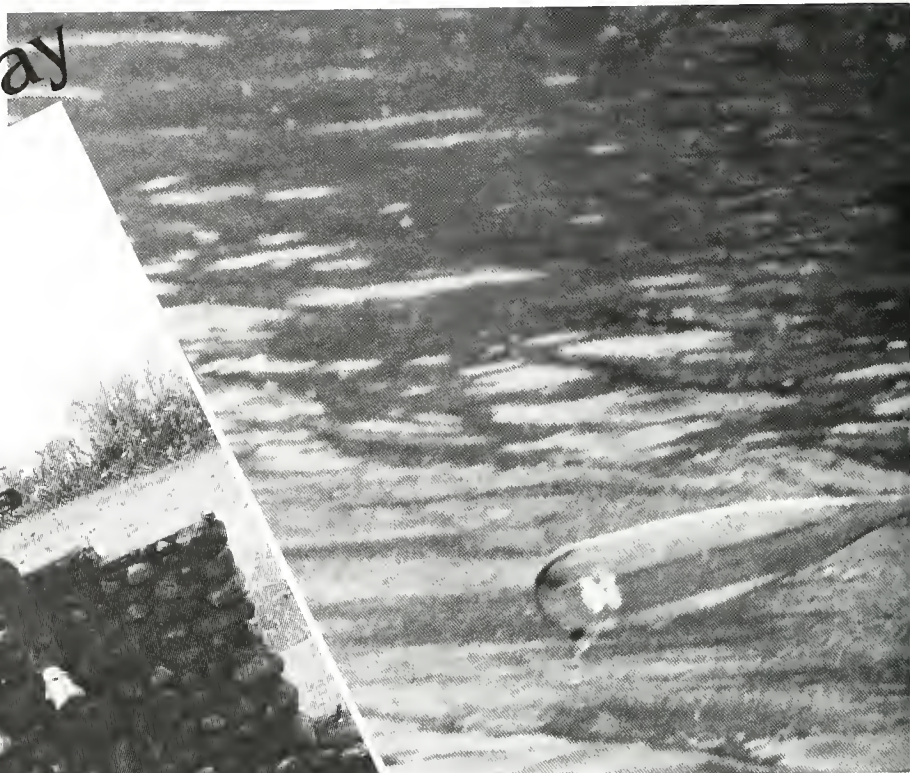

Camp Mack Day

Sun Scenery Solitude

Once again, on September 22, students and faculty took a day of escape and fun to Camp Mack. Attendance, however, was down this year compared to previous years due to the threat of bad weather. "The spirit of those who did attend was overwhelming," commented Judy Dipold, this year's chairperson for Camp Mack day.

The day started with songs and prayer. Phil Weaver and Eric Snyder rowed away with the canoe race for the second year in a row. Tug-of-war tournaments and four square games followed the water activities. And this year's pie eating contest winner was Sid Sherwood.

During dinner, a group of seniors led everyone in the singing of "On the Banks of the Kenapocomoco." In the afternoon, the students defeated the faculty in the annual softball game. Other activities included: volleyball, basketball, frisbee, and new this year, boomerangs. Camp Mack Day is a Manchester tradition that will be continued for many years to come.

The water balloon toss is full of suspense, anxiety, and fun.

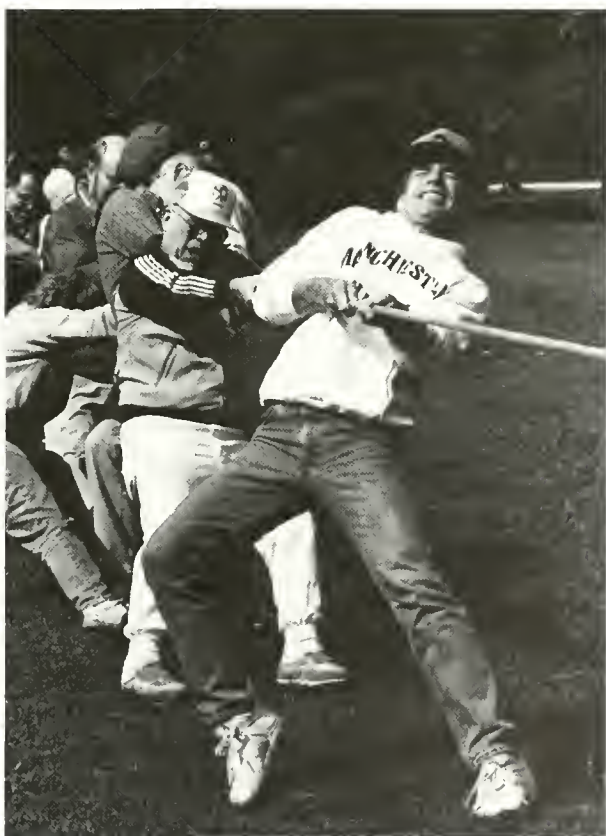

Investigating the sunken barge in Lake Waubee was a highlight for Al Deeter and Scott Strode.

Basketball and especially volleyball are favorites among both students and faculty.

Ted Paugh threw a pitch in the softball game with such concentration that not even the best of the faculty could attempt to hit.

President Robinson leads the rest of the faculty in a tough but losing match of tug-of-war.

Homecoming

Elegant Exciting Enchanting

Manchester College experienced a week in Camelot during eighty-seven's Homecoming.

In this spirit, Monty Python's "The Holy Grail" drew everyone to the Oaks for an evening of fun and entertainment. The Gotcha game started off with a bang on Wednesday night and died on Friday when Jeff Olden killed his last victim.

Homecoming Day began by lining the streets of college avenue in anticipation for Manchester's Homecoming parade. The parade consisted of many different faces such as clowns, athletes, the Homecoming court, President Robinson and family, and President Emeritus A. Blair Helman and wife. Following the parade, fans filled the stands of Kenapocamoco Field to watch Manchester's Spartans play to victory over Aurora. The homecoming play was entitled "The Foreigner", which helped cap off the week along with the Fantasy Dance in the old gym and a bon fire behind the Union. Homecoming was truly a Camelot Fantasy.

It was a heated match between the juniors and seniors at the powderpuff football game.

President and Mrs. Robinson have a great time being in the Homecoming Parade.

Amy Johnston feels that the balloon send-off is a big part of the Homecoming spirit.

Special Weekends

Brother/Sister weekend turned out to be a very "uplifting" experience for Kelly Grede and her sister.

A picture paints a thousand words . . . Judy Dippold painted the faces of many prospective M.C. students during Bro/Sis weekend.

Rick Thompson and his father enjoy a father/son luncheon behind the union during Parent's weekend.

SPECIAL WEEKENDS: PARENTS, FRIENDS, BROTHER-SISTER

There's no better way to start a year of special weekends than by honoring Mom and Dad, along with Grandparents and Guardians, at a weekend set aside just for them. There's no other group who are so surely "a cut above the rest." The weekend ended on a high note — literally — with the magnificent trumpet artistry of Dizzy Gillespie, who along with the Mitchell-Ruff Duo, kept Cordier swinging.

The brisk days of early November were warmed by the presence of good friends. Manchester's "Friends Weekend" began Friday, November 6, with a kick-off dinner — "Let the Good Food Roll." Entertainment included the movie "Lethal Weapon," or for those preferring a play, after the powerful drama "The Dybbuk" performed by The National Theatre for the Deaf.

Spring was a long time coming, but the campus greened at last, and with the brightening colors came brothers and sisters on their special weekend, April 15-17. Friday featured sundaes in the Oaks, and not one, but two entertaining movies. "Adventures in Babysitting" and "The Muppets take Manhattan," followed by the lively and colorful Polynesian Dance. On Saturday guests got to eat breakfast in their "jammies" before attending a variety of activities — a session on crafts and clowns, a baseball game against DePauw, or a kite flying show with Duane Deardorff. Then the brothers and sisters headed for home, dreaming of the days when they too would be students at Manchester.

Mayday

Bikes Trikes May Day Delights

"The sky's the limit" was the theme for May Day and the skys were just beautiful all week. "Win, Lose, or Draw" added a new twist to the roommate game as the contestants munched on Nachos and cheese at the Oaks Special. Another new feature was the showing of the movie "Caddyshack" on the football field which was a big success. The Variety Show and belching contest drew people of various talents and vocal accomplishments. The weekend was full of activities which included the May Day Play, "The Fifth Sun", a canoe race, and the ever popular bike race, which was once again won by the alumni team. But watch out, next year's teams look better than ever.

Ken Brown and Dagny Boebel entertain at the May Day Variety Show.

The May Day King and Queen were Matt Shmucker and Jill Wampler.

Roommates Denise Jones and Deb Hantz work hard at keeping the canoe under control.

Lines formed Saturday on the football field for the Union Picnic.

Looking lovely as ever, Mary Borntrager works hard keeping her hat on at the trike race.

Exchanges were the crucial factor in winning times at the bike race.

HOG ROAST

Mud Airband Henry Lee Summer

Watch out, because "This Mud's for You". Hogroast '88 got off to a terrific start with Henry Lee Summer who was live in Cordier. The concert was recorded by CBS and was broadcast over the United States. Saturday afternoon was a mess with the mud pit being used for the golf ball search and the mud volleyball competition. Dinner that evening included two large hogs that had slowly been cooking all day. Desert was the airband contest on the Union lawn which was won by, of course, "Henry Lee Summer." The Bel-Airs topped the evening off with their band music from the fifties and sixties.

Todd Martin wonders how he is ever going to get all of this mud off.

Jon Shellabarger and Kurt Bragg "put their all" into the golf ball hunt.

Robbe Stouder and Brian Walters were a hit at the air band contest.

JANUARY TERM

Fun Memories Friendships

During the month of January, Manchester students can be found at all corners of the world, doing various types of study. From the soccer team's trip to Africa to Kendall Roger's Christian Faith class in Germany, students found different cultures and many fascinating aspects of other lands.

Costa Rica, Nicaragua, and the island of Hawaii were studied as well as different lands right here in the United States. Children's Theatre was on tour throughout Indiana and Neil Wollman took a group to Florida. For all that traveled, as well as those that stayed right here at MC, Jan. term was an educational experience.

Gary Zimmerman took a tropical trip to the sunny land of Hawaii to study cross-cultural psychology.

Practice took on an African flair this year for the Soccer team which spent the month in Nigeria.

Fenced in in Costa Rica are Dr. Hicks and his group of Ecological students.

John Worth put on a different face for Children's Theatre.

Dr. Strode had his work cut out for him handling this group.

Germany looked very enjoyable for Kendall Rogers Christian Faith class.

Expressions Of Manchester

"Why do we have to study so much?" Karin Ogan, Sharon Brown, and Sandy Thompson prepare for final week.

"Where for art thou . . ." Dagny Boebel portrayed Juliet in an Oaks Variety show.

"Goodbye Manchester," thinks Nat Bryan during the reception following commencement.

"Q, R, S . . ." thinks Charity Chalfant as she looks up a forwarding address in the post office.

"What could be better than going to another class?" says Joy McFadden on her way to a 3:00.

Theatre

Behind The Scenes

Someone once said that the world is a stage, and the stage is a world of entertainment. This statement is true for the theatrical events that take place here at Manchester annually. The Homecoming play, The Foreigner, was followed in November by the Freshman One-Acts. January was a busy month for the Participation Players, who performed the children's theatre play The Crossroads. Then, Alpha Psi Omega, the dramatic honorary fraternity, staged "Tips on Try-outs" in the Oaks. And finally The Fifth Sun rounded out this year's events as the May Day Play. "I was really satisfied. I think we had two really great shows," said Dr. Scott Strode, the director of both major plays.

Nine Drama honors were awarded at the Communications Banquet May 11. Awards included Best Actor and Actress in a Minor Role, Scott Hinshaw and Robin Lidston; In a Supporting Role, Brian Proffitt and Courtney Stillman; In a Major Role, Pat Morgan and Barb Glassford. The Technical Award went to Maryanne Beery and Matt Doudt for their work as sound crew for The Fifth Sun. The Best Director Award went to Noelle Dulabaum and Ron VanSessen. A senior recognition went to Jeff Gilbert. "The theatre here is a great way to meet people and just take a break from studying in the evenings," stated Jim Bowyer. "I hope more people get involved next year."

A tension ridden scene in the Homecoming production of "The Froegner".

Brian Weimer and Pat Morgan in the climactic scene of "The Fifth Sun".

"Aaawwww, mom and dad, I'm so bored with my marriage!" Meva Weaver, Duane Deardorff, and Katy Brown performed in one of four freshman one acts.

BCA

China France Mexico

Once again Manchester hosted a sizable and varied group of BCA and other international students. The BCA students were Barbara Grosshaus from Germany, Maria Navarrete from Spain, Danielle Lorenz from France, and Qin Shu-dong, Hannah Wu, Sun Ying, and Yan Yan from China. Adela Martinez Alonso a BCA student in 1985-86 studied part time while teaching Spanish.

Other international students were Wangdi Sherpa from Nepal and Miyuki Tanaka and Yoshi Sato from Japan. Jose Fernandez, Juan Flores, Jose Hernandez, and Miguel Yanez were students from Mexico now permanently residing in the United States.

Hannah Wu from China enjoys a beautiful day on campus.

Jose Fernandez, Miyuki Tanaka, Danielle Lorenz, and Barbara Grosshaus discover a variety of new foods at Manchester.

Maria Navarrete from Spain and Miyuki Tanaka from Japan enjoy an international friendship.

Qin Shu-dong relaxes in the mall between classes.

Having a great time cooking at the international dinner is Helen Whitnall from England.

BLACK HISTORY MONTH

Food Culture Heritage

Black History set the stage for the month of February with various forms of culture and entertainment. The AAFRO club directed many of the events which included Las Vegas Night and special convo programs, such as Reader's Theatre and a musical program given by The I.U. AAFRO American Choral Ensemble. Special guest speakers to the college included Sue Stubbs from the Fort Wayne Women's Bureau and also Mel Holtz from the AM General Plant in South Bend.

Sophomore Brett Fry and Charity Chalfant win big bucks at Las Vegas Night.

Sue Stubbs from the Fort Wayne Women's Bureau explained her views on counseling to Gary Zimmerman's Counseling Theory and Practice class.

Jamie Cockrum's Management class learned how AM General in South Bend enforces different management skills to enhance production.

Senior Tonya Fisher narrated the Black History Reader's Theatre.

Taking tickets was a great time for Junior Dorthy Sanders and Junior Tonya Austin.

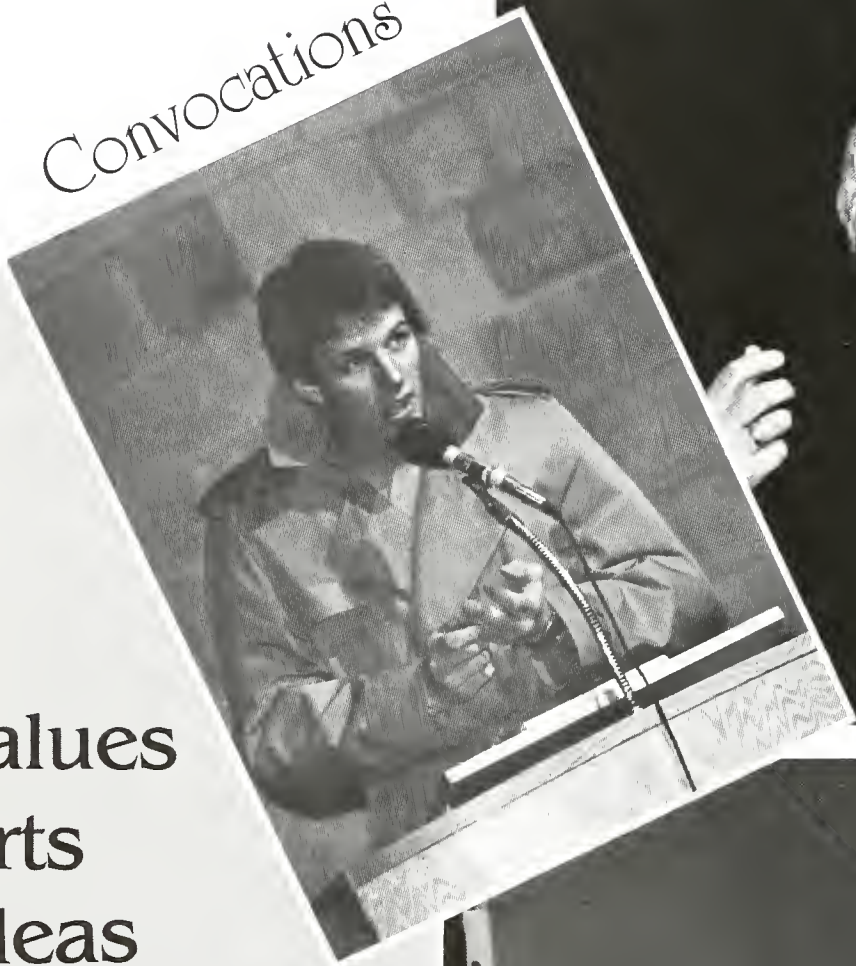

The I.U. African American Choral Ensemble shared their powerful and uplifting music with M.C. students.

Convocations

Values Arts Ideas

The Co-Curricular Enrichment Committee picked various programs to entertain as well as broaden our liberal arts education. The fall programs where kicked off with the opening convocation given by President William Robinson. Other fall highlights were Dizzy Gillespie and the Mitchell-Ruff Duo, Reverend John D'Arcy, The National Theatre of the Deaf, Mr. Ralph McGeehee former C.I.A. Agent, and The Eastman Brass Quintet Christmas Program.

Highlights from Spring Term included the Afro-American Choral Ensemble, AAFRO Club Reader's Theatre, Harbinger Dance Company, and the wonderful organ music of Wilma Jensen.

Steve Kile, as well as everyone else, enjoyed his senior series.

Faith in Christ in the Contemporary Culture was the topic of Most Reverend John M. D'Arcy, Roman Catholic Bishop of the Diocese of Ft. Wayne/South Bend.

Helping out Sheri Spiker in her senior series were Diane Keller, Kathy Baker, and Connie Ramos.

Cordier Usher Cindy Bull assisted in making the convocations run smooth and even had time to chat to Anna Weaver.

Senior Nat Bryan had a comfortable and well thought out dialogue for his senior series.

Graduation

MC's 99th Commencement

"This is the part you've been waiting for." With these words, President Robinson began the presentation of degrees to 219 graduating students at Manchester's 99th commencement exercise.

In many ways it was a typical graduation ceremony. It was hot, and the dark robes and mortar boards were uncomfortable. Friends and relatives set up a storm of photo flashes; parents beamed and sometimes cried; noble words were spoken from the platform.

No matter how typical, it was also a special and unique time — a fleeting event that could never be repeated. And yet it was an event these graduates would savor forever. It was Manchester Graduation 1988.

Manchester's faculty awaits the cue to lead the processional.

Julie Anglemeyer delivered the senior address.

The seniors listen diligently to Dean Arnett as he gives the instructions for commencement.

Becky Czanderna, Chris Bowman, and Rhonda Bricker march proudly to the PERC.

There Are So Many Aspects To Campus Life!

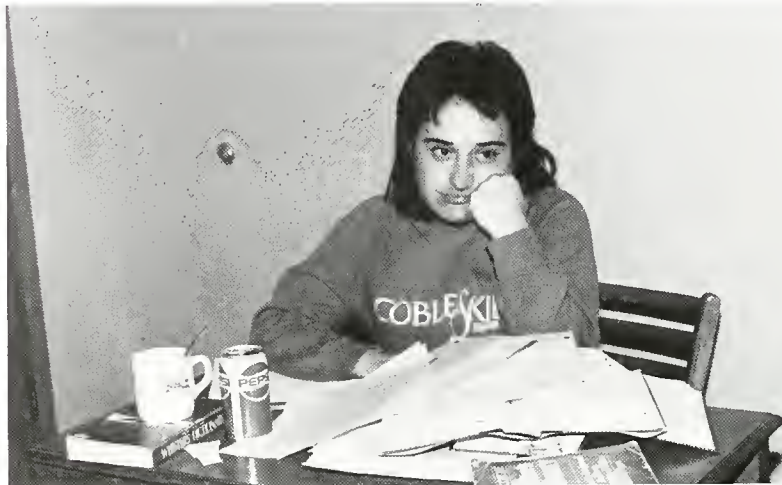

Campus life is full of variety. For example, there's anticipation — waiting around the desk for that all-important call and chatting with friends at the same time. Or anticipating the term paper deadline that once seemed so safely far away, and suddenly there's nothing to do but get on with it. Well, there's always time to feel a little sorry for ourselves.

Or taking a study break in the Oaks and wondering what's going on across the room in anticipation of fascinating new friendships. Or welcoming little sis or cheering on the team. Or putting our feet up to take a sewing break while conversing with old friends in the residence hall. Or taking that essential video challenge and winning.

But most of all, being at Manchester means learning to make those critical life decisions. Just what kind of junk food do I want tonight?

OAKWOOD HALL

Roommates Junk Food Late Nights

Oakwood hall kept up on the activities this year starting out with their theme for open house being different occupations. The Oakwood cookout was a big success as was the Christmas Party given in the lobby. There were also those late night trips to the doughnut shop and long walks with friends. The Oakwood hall banquet finished up a year full of good memories.

Junior Lynette Connelly got buried alive by a hoard of killer balloons.

The Oakwood Hall Christmas party was a big success with food and Christmas programs on T.V.

IKENBERRY HALL

Pranks Serenade Water Fights

Serenading the women of Oakwood started out the year in good spirits for the men of Ikenberry Hall. It was a busy year full of many events which included the East/Ike picnic, a pool party and two swim parties, a cookout, and a volleyball tournament. The year was concluded with the Ike banquet held at The View Point.

Lounging around before dinner are Kelli Yaussey, Dave Strohl, and Eric Snyder.

Garver Hall

Garver successfully continued its long tradition as a co-ed residence hall for another year, and in doing so continued other traditions as well, among them an active, exciting social calendar — the well-established toga dance, beach party, and spring banquet, as well as a picnic in the park and munchie sessions during final exams.

Under the leadership of Director Leslie Stewart, there were innovations as well. For example, a new television that won the admiration and attention of all residents, but only after all homework had been done, of course.

Jim Finchum stops and poses for a picture before checking his phone messages.

Schwalm Hall

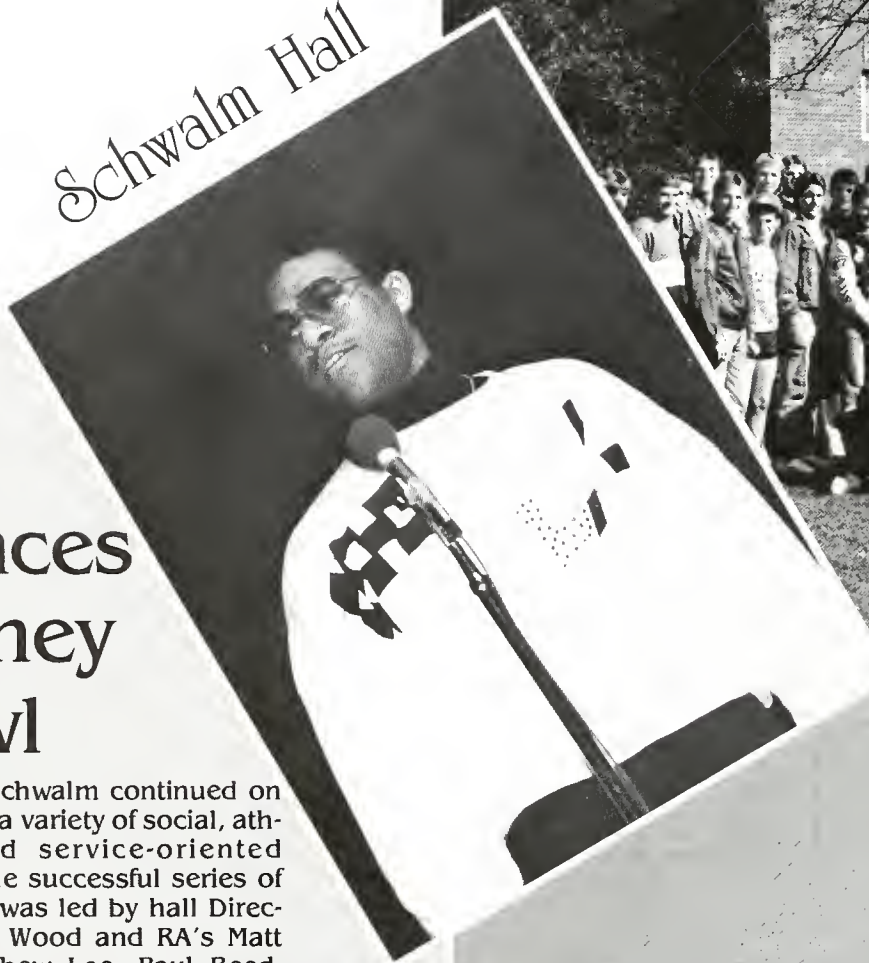

Ice Dances Rhiney Bowl

Life in Schwalm continued on a roll with a variety of social, athletic, and service-oriented events. The successful series of programs was led by hall Director Randy Wood and RA's Matt Starr, Mathew Lee, Paul Reed, Dwane Rice, Sid Sherwood, Skip Smeltzer, and Pat Spurlock.

Schwalm maintained its athletic traditions by sponsoring the annual softball tournament as well as racquetball tournaments organized by individual floors. Other events included a hall-sponsored picnic and the May Day car bash.

A most significant activity was raising money for the scholarship in memory of Michael Petry, a Schwalm resident killed in an automobile accident in February 1987.

It was another good year for Schwalm as life there remained as lively and entertaining as ever. "What I like about living in Schwalm," junior Bruce Hissong said, "is that you can always find someone to talk to and have fun with."

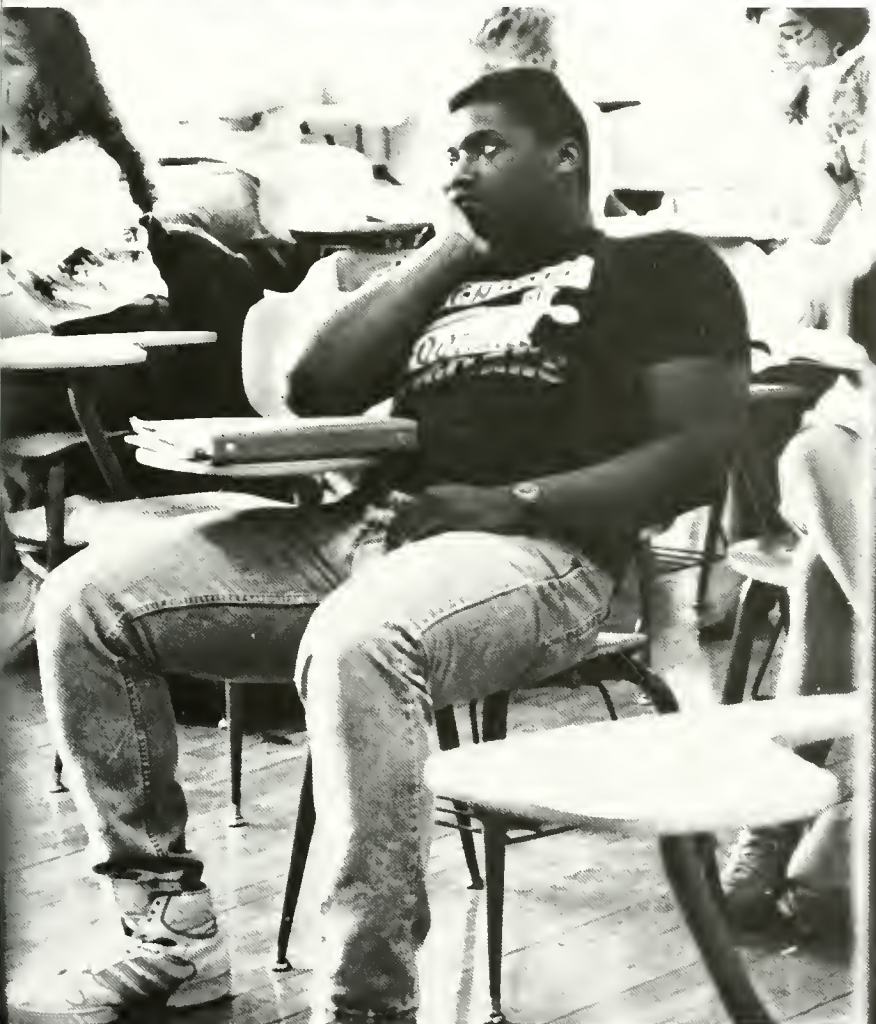

Sitting on the phone is a natural pasttime in Schwalm Hall.

Craig Fitch is having a great time working on his program.

East Hall

Cooking Sun Tanning Late Night Talks

"There's never a dull moment at East Hall," says East resident April Bates. "You can always find an open door and some one to talk to — at least on my floor." The schedule of events at East suggest that April's floor is, in fact, typical of the entire hall.

Along with the annual Christmas party, a fondue party, and a nacho party came the imaginative unbirthday party when parents were asked to send gifts to East residents for no other reason than that there was no reason for gifts. In addition to the good times, residents also had an opportunity to participate in a hall-sponsored self defense class.

Just getting out of class are Kris Stoneburner and Deb Hantz.

The Spartan football team finished its second consecutive winseason with a winning record of 5-4-1. Not since 1939 and 1940 have the Spartans had back-to-back winning seasons. Junior quarterback Mark Conrad rushed for 1632 yards, breaking the total offensive record of 1493 yards established by Dave Berg in 1982. He also completed nearly 48 percent of his passes and threw for 6 touchdowns. Junior tight end Rick Mann set a single game record for reception yards in the Taylor game on November 7. Scott Smith had 213 carriers and 675 yards. Both Mann and Smith, along with offensive lineman Brad Love, were named NAIA All-District 21 players. In addition, Mann was also named the Spartan's most valuable offense player. Defensive NAIA All-District 21 selections were defensive end Leon Freehauf and defensive back Roland Alvarez, while Senior line backer Pat Creighton was named the defensive most valuable.

The Spartan soccer team made its fourth consecutive appearance in the District 21 tourney. Coach Good says, "The team accomplished its goal of making it to the tournament, however, injury dampened the performance of the Spartan team." Tri-State defeated the Spartans in the first round of the tournament. This loss was disappointing because Manchester had been ranked in the NAIA area fivestop ten after two scoreless ties with highly ranked Grand Rapids Baptists and Cedarville the week before. The Spartans soccer players finished the season with a 7-8-2 record.

Individually, the leading scorer for the second consecutive year was Jose Cardenas, who finished the season with eight goals and four assists. Two-year NIAI All-American goalie Paul Reed, Juan Flores, and Pat McCoy, all four year performers, will be lost to graduation. Coach Good looks forward to the future, but says Paul, Juan, and Pat will be missed next year.

Brought Home District Titles

What began as a challenge to the men and women's tennis team this season ended with a sense of accomplishment through their placement in the NAIA District 21 tournament. With the help of freshmen Joel Eichenauer and Craig Hopple the men's team ranked ninth place. Although the season record for the women's team was 1 win and 7 loses, they finished fifth in the district tournament. Beth Kreider (on state tournament), "We proved to our coach that we could place among the top teams there."

With only three returning players, and prospects for further growth, the Spartan volleyball team finished its season with a respectable record of 9 wins, 13 losses, 3 ties, and nearly qualified for the NAIA District 21 tournament. Junior Julie Eichenauer was named to the NAIA's All-district 21 team for the second consecutive time and also received All-HCW first team honors. A close loss to St. Mary's foiled the Spartan's chances for automatic qualification to the tournament. "This year we only had three returning players, so it was a growing year for us," commented Senior Co-captain Jenni Shively.

Concentrating for the race, Tonya Johnson warms up.

Senior Meg McElroy makes a spring for the finish line.

"An outstanding season, possibly the best ever," said coach Jungbauer. For the third year in a row, the women's cross country team won the NAIA District 21 Championship and the Hoosier Conference for Women title. The team went on to finish 20th in the NAIA Cross Country championships at Wisconsin-Parkside.

The Team's leading runners were seniors Meg McElroy and Becky Kreps. McElroy became Manchester's first-ever cross country All-American by finishing eighth at the Nationals. With a school record time of 17:47, she was the Spartan's first Little State champion. McElroy was also the NAIA District 21 individual champion, and the HCW champion for the second consecutive year. Becky Kreps was also named to the All-HCW team and finished second in both the district and HCW championships.

Tim Wion led the men's Cross country team and finished third in the District 2 Championship and went on to finish 68th with a personal best time of 25:54 in the nationals. Junior Jay Lance was named an NSIS Academic All-American. The Spartan team finished third in the District 21 championship and finished seventh in the Little State Championship — four places higher than last year. "The next couple of years look good for the young Spartan squad," commented Coach Jungbauer.

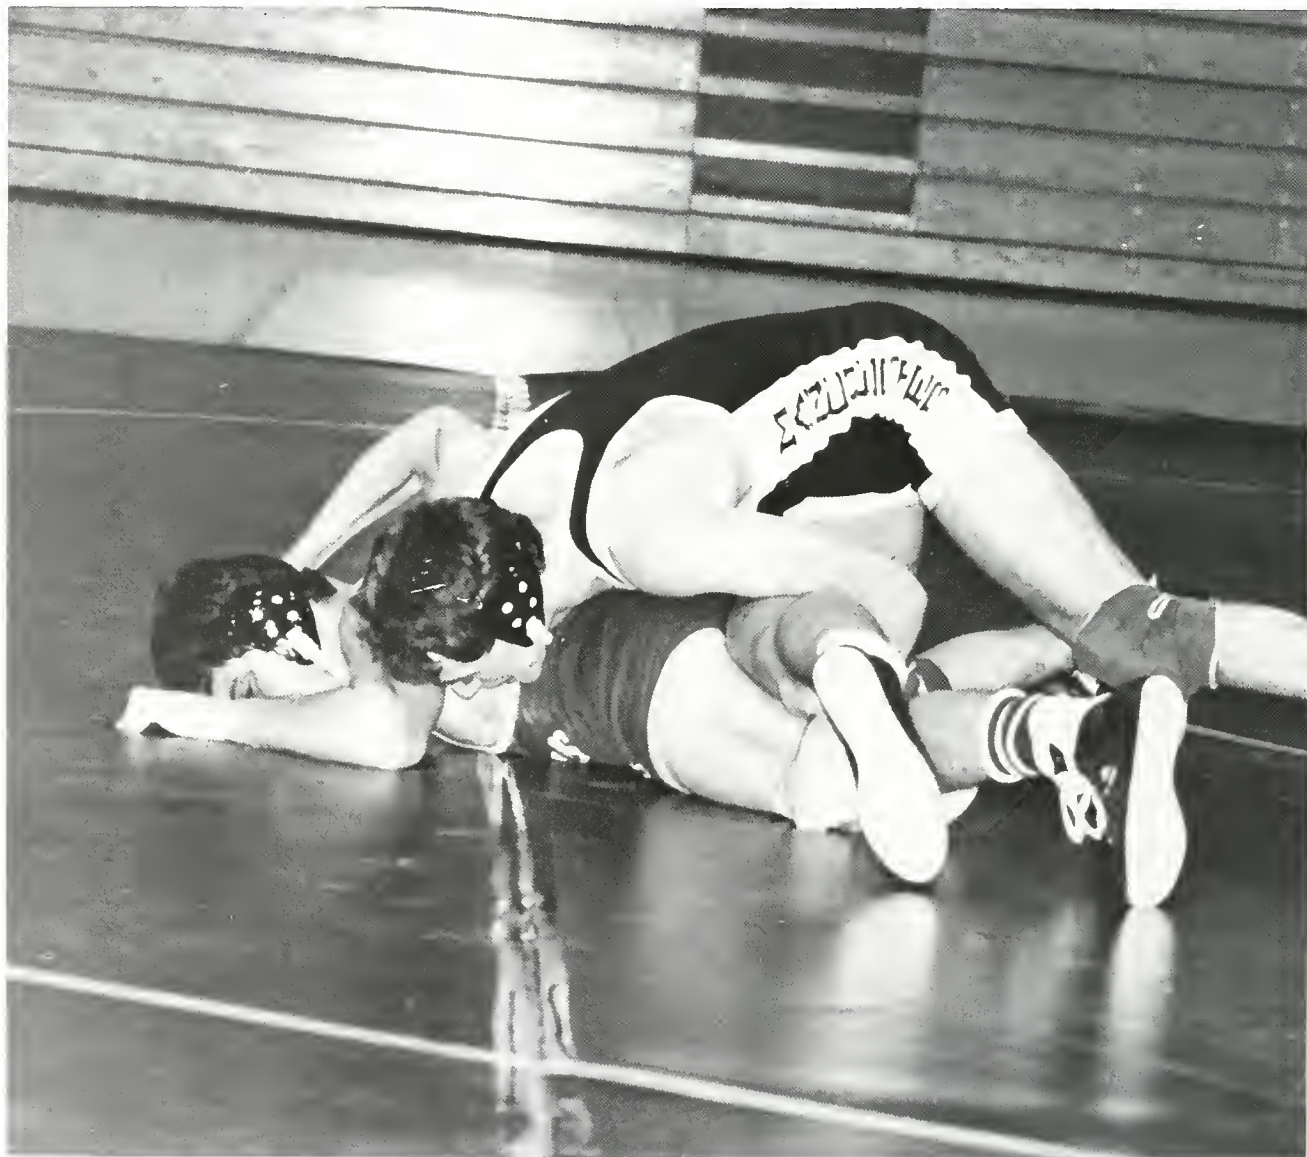

Wrestling

Returns To College After Twelve Year Absence

Returning to intercolliate competition this season, the Manchester wrestling team challenged and defeated inception and made substantial advancement. The season concluded February 13th at the NAIA Regional in Defiance, OH where junior Scott Smith, sophomore Rod Williams and Freshman

Mark Baer finished fourth in their respective weight classes. Williams, who also placed fourth in the Little State event at 134 pounds, made his mark as one of the Spartan's most consistant performers. Smith and Baer followed successful high school performances, although Smith had not wrestled in four years and returned to form late in the season. Wrestlers Nat Bryan and Brett Fry also played a crucial part in the season's prosperity in an 18-14 victory over Rose-Hulman in the Wabash Invitational, placing eight of 11 wrestlers at the Little State Championships and taking four of 10 decisions in the February 10th Olivet match.

A vigorous display of prowess leaves Rod Williams weary, but not defeated.

Spartan Women Challenged . . . Basketball

And Give It Their Best "Shot"

Despite this season's success, veteran coach Betty Clark found the game plan full of reconstruction due to the number of senior players last season.

This season opened with a victory at home over Concordia (67-31). The Spartan's second win was over Marion (73-69), which preceded a small slump before their victory in the Spartan Classic over Indiana-Southeast (67-56). Later in the season the Spartans scored their first win away from home at Earlham (69-46).

Along with the fight for victory, Karen Shaw, Diane Keller, Michelle Rush and Chris Owens experienced the physical frustration due to injury. However, Shaw averaged 12 points and was placed 10th in the country and first in NAIA District 21 in free throw percentage (85.2%/46-54). Also, Keller broke away from a slow start to produce an average 15 points over 10 games and raised her season average to 9.4.

sparked a fire to lead MC to victory

With two consecutive home game victories under their belts, the Men's basketball team started the season out right — a season which would overshadow the previous season and renew hope for seasons to come. The final victory scores doubled from last season to proclaim eight wins.

The success can be partly attributed to first-year coach Pat Cunningham, under whose guidance led the defeats over Kalamazoo and Earlham. These two battles were fought at the North Manchester Kiwanis Invitational. These wins marked the first win for Manchester at the Invitational since 1983.

Key players this season included seniors Tal Ryzewski, who broke the 1000 career point mark January 16th against Wabash, was the leading scorer and rebounder (15.4) and has 1099 points which is 13th on Manchester's all-time scoring list, Brad Gore, averaging eight points per game and lead in assists, Joe Nadaline, Spartan's third leading scorer (8.2) and sophomore Todd Martin, Manchester's second leading scorer.

Averaging 7.7 rebounds per game, Tal Ryzewski positions for control of the ball.

Softball Lady Spartans

wind up for record-breaking season

The standing at the end of the season for the softball team was 21-18, a school record for most wins in a season. The Spartans took their victories to the road to Orlando, Florida, where they were victorious in over half of their games. Manchester then traveled back to school where they continued winning and then qualified for placement in the NAIA District 21 Tournament at sixth place.

Team awards were given to

Baseball

it was a season of pitch and catch

Led by returning coach Jeff Hood, the baseball team continued their strive toward excellence. This season the Spartans more than doubled their wins from the previous season. The team came on strong with three victories before moving on with their spring trip to Jacksonville, Florida. The valiant men in black and gold qualified for one of the eight spots in the NAIA District 21 tournament and exclaimed a 16-13 record. The Spartans scored high over Indiana-Southeast and Goshen and continued on to upset Marian, who ranked second. The Marian defeat placed them against Anderson again, the victor qualifying for the championship round. The two teams battled it out in 10 innings before Anderson claimed the game with a mere lead of 4-3. Leading in virtually every statistical category were the senior men. Tal Ryzewski left behind his innings pitched (71.2), strikeouts (53), wins (6) and earned run average (3.94).

Jeff Fehlinger, who held a 5.44 ERA over 41.2 innings, and Rob Csenar who was second in innings pitched (63) with two wins and an ERA of 5.6, also contributed to the team. Honors named to team players included the squad's most valuable, given to Ryzewski and Monte Jacobs, the Kiwanis Mr. Baseball award, named to Mark Conrad, and the team's Rookie of the Year, handed to Rick Mann.

Team Supports Athletes

Track And Field

The highlight of the season for track and field was supporting three athletes, all of whom qualified for the NAIA National Championships at Azusa Pacific in California. The players who embody the team include Meg McElroy, who was named HCW for the

1500 and 3000 meter events and All-NAIA District 21 by placing first in the 3000 and 5000 meter races at the district meet, Tammy Reheard, named All-HCW for the discus, shot put and javelin, John Pavy, who established a new school record in the pole vault (15'10") at the Billy Hayes Invitational, and Becky Kreps, who ran in the marathon at the NAIA Nationals and won the 10,000 meter event at the Little State and District championships.

Luck Of The Irish Golf

Not With Competitive Spartans

Manchester Golf team struggled this season during their eight tournaments. They finished third at the Spartan Invitational and qualified for the Indiana Collegiate Athletic Conference and NAIA District 21 championships.

Support Groups

Motivating

the team and crowd

Support groups. Often imitated, yet never duplicated. They are responsible for motivating not only the players, but also the crowd. They hold the corner on school spirit and participate in drives to raise the awareness of athletic events on campus. Support groups also involve themselves in rigorous training and workouts for their routines.

This year the support groups participated at all home varsity games for men and women, but did not venture out of North Manchester for "away" games.

Doug Blackwell talked about his feelings for support groups, and mused, "In a roundabout way, what keeps me going is the feeling that as a group we are motivating the players and we receive satisfaction from this and motivating the crowd."

A Cut ABOVE the Rest

In many respects, this has been a viable year for Manchester College. For example, enrollment has steadily been increasing, and this trend will continue in the next couple of years. Besides this, the Honors Program is firmly expanding.

But in addition to growing, this institution is continuing the same quality educational and entertaining programs of the past, while refining them for the future.

Extra-curricular activities have flourished and become significant aspects in the lives of nearly every student. The liberal arts college stands upon the numerous performing arts, athletics, and other organizations that are invaluable to the learning atmosphere.

This has likewise been a year of excitement and anticipation for the upcoming 100th year celebration of the birth of the college. We are all looking forward to looking back.

All of these factors, and many others, go into the making of the fine institution that Manchester College is . . . A Cut Above the Rest.

Brenda Wogoman partakes of one of her favorite pastimes . . . talking in the alcove.

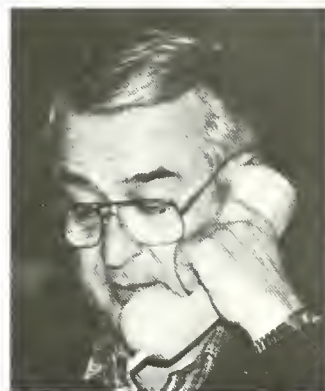

Paul Strode and Carl Rouch lead the pack.

Junior Chris Phillips is caught in an act of mischief!

Sam Davis participated in the Fall phone-a-thon to help raise money for the college's annual fund.

Neil Wollman taught Social Psychology in Ft. Lauderdale, FL during Jan. term.

Editor Expresses Gratitude

Hello!

I hope you enjoyed the 1988 Aurora! Many people combined their creative ideas and talents in order to make this book a "Cut Above the Rest". I hope that when you periodically leaf through the pages, they will remind you of all the people, places, and events that made this year special.

The production of the book went through many renovations. I want to thank Charles Boebel, our first year advisor, for computerizing all of our copy. The computer aided in making production smoother. Charles, you were also a wonderful support person. Thank you for always being there when we called.

The staff was also invaluable this year. Special thanks goes to Jim Bowyer for being a great copy editor, Jeannette Heller for designing the layouts, Amy Feldman for making the album section look wonderful, Tina Finnegan for organizing the Organization section and for taking some great shots, Rod Schrag for making the Campus Life and the Faculty/Staff sections look dynamic, Rick Thompson for all of his work on the sports section, and Beth Young for completing the Sports and bringing it all together during the Summer.

There were many others that helped out when we were in a pinch. Marti Spangle, Sherri Cutlip, Lesli Drawert, and Kevin Heller were great when it came to organizing and writing copy. Jeff Critchfield spent hours on the phone getting quotes. Butch Weaver did an excellent job as typist. April Bates was a first year Business Manager for the Aurora staff, and her work was much appreciated. Thank you also for your help on the index, April! Troy Davis was my official computer consultant. Translation: He came over and made the terminal cooperate with me. I also wanted to thank Randy Self. He was the one person that put in more hours down in the Student Activities Suite that I did. He was always down there with a smile or a joke. This publication would be nowhere without the exceptional talents of the photography staff. Noelle Dulabaum was the photography coordinator this year, and she did a super job. Thank you for being so organized, cheerful, and supportive, Noey. The entire photo staff is to be highly commended. I'd like to point out the Sports section. Gary Flory and Doug Blackwell took some very good shots. Special thanks goes to Dave Strohl for returning to MC and the photo staff mid-year. You always came to the rescue with your camera, no matter how short the notice.

Shirley and John Adams were great developers for us again this year. Thank you Shirley for all of the rush jobs.

Although we are officially part of the English department, I don't think we could have survived the year without Public Relations. Joy, Rita, and Pat had answers for every conceivable question and always had a smile. I really appreciated you guys. Nevin Dulabaum spent two days at MC taking our Organization pictures. Thank you Nevin — it was really a lot of fun! Ken Werking — thank you again for doing all of the undergrad and senior pictures, as well as updating many of the faculty and staff. It's always a pleasure working with you. Without the help of all of the above people, this book could not have been a "Cut Above the Rest."

I hope it makes you smile as you look through it!
